

Wetterbericht

Weather forecast

Today the rain moves first to the east and southeast, in the mountains there is partly snow with ice danger. Last showers in the north. Afterwards it will be cloudy with variable cloudiness and especially towards north and northeast there will be occasional showers. In the course of the day it is generally dry from the southwest and west and longer periods of sunshine are possible, most sunshine then in the southwest and in the low mountain ranges. In the evening it will be in the far west cloudier again. Maximum values 4 degrees in the eastern low mountain ranges to 10 degrees in the south. Weak to moderate, in the northwest partly fresh southwest to west winds, later turning south.

Weather forecast

Today the rain moves first to the east and southeast, in the mountains there is partly snow with ice danger. Last showers in the north. Afterwards it will be cloudy with variable cloudiness and especially towards north and northeast there will be occasional showers. In the course of the day it is generally dry from the southwest and west and longer periods of sunshine are possible, most sunshine then in the southwest and in the low mountain ranges. In the evening it will be in the far west cloudier again. Maximum values 4 degrees in the eastern low mountain ranges to 10 degrees in the south. Weak to moderate, in the northwest partly fresh southwest to west winds, later turning south.

Weather forecast

Today the rain moves first to the east and southeast, in the mountains there is partly snow with ice danger. Last showers in the north. Afterwards it will be cloudy with variable cloudiness and especially towards north and northeast there will be occasional showers. In the course of the day it is generally dry from the southwest and west and longer periods of sunshine are possible, most sunshine then in the southwest and in the low mountain ranges. In the evening it will be in the far west cloudier again. Maximum values 4 degrees in the eastern low mountain ranges to 10 degrees in the south. Weak to moderate, in the northwest partly fresh southwest to west winds, later turning south.

Weather forecast

Today the rain moves first to the east and southeast, in the mountains there is partly snow with ice danger. Last showers in the north. Afterwards it will be cloudy with variable cloudiness and especially towards north and northeast there will be occasional showers. In the course of the day it is generally dry from the southwest and west and longer periods of sunshine are possible, most sunshine then in the southwest and in the low mountain ranges. In the evening it will be in the far west cloudier again. Maximum values 4 degrees in the eastern low mountain ranges to 10 degrees in the south. Weak to moderate, in the northwest partly fresh southwest to west winds, later turning south.

Weather forecast

Today the rain moves first to the east and southeast, in the mountains there is partly snow with ice danger. Last showers in the north. Afterwards it will be cloudy with variable cloudiness and especially towards north and northeast there will be occasional showers. In the course of the day it is generally dry from the southwest and west and longer periods of sunshine are possible, most sunshine then in the southwest and in the low mountain ranges. In the evening it will be in the far west cloudier again. Maximum values 4 degrees in the eastern low mountain ranges to 10 degrees in the south. Weak to moderate, in the northwest partly fresh southwest to west winds, later turning south.